Los Angeles Herald

THE DAILY and WEEKLY HERALD has more than double the circulation of any other paper published in Southern California. Business men recognize it accordingly as the best advertising medium South of San Francisco.

TUESDAY, FEB. 15, 1876.

Col. J. M. BASSETT, Editor and Manager of the HERALD started from San Francisco yesterday and will doubtless arrive to-morrow.

We call attention to the card of the Pomona excursion in our "New to Day." Here is an opportunity to take a pleasure excursion combined with business. The country along the whole line is as lovely as a garden, and at and around Pomona is inspiring to look at. There are hundreds of citizens in this city that have no idea of the beauty of that section. Go and see it.

Women's Strong Suit.

Heaven's best gift women is the endowment of a sweet voice and gentle manners, accompanied with amiable, retiring modesty. It is this that makes them so attractive, graceful and agreeable. Herein is the secret of that wonderful power they possess over the opposite sex. It makes the strong man bow himself in meek submission, and like Samson is shorn of his strength. But strange to say where women's rights and east winds prevail, these attractive qualities do not flourish to any extent. It may be all right for women to lecture, vote and preach, but these things do not subdue and play upon the heartstrings of the sternest sex.

Mystic Concert.

We seriously regret that we failed to be at Mr. Wolfenstein's Hall on Sunday evening to hear Mr. Jesse Shepard. We have met a number of citizens to day, who undertake to describe it, but say, "It is impossible; no one ever heard anything like it before." "Grand, awfully grand; overwhelming; O, I wish you had been there!" We have never known people, all to go into extacies over anything of the kind before. There is always one sober Indian in any crowd we ever saw. Well, we have made up our mind to go and hear this man who sings with four voices and plays upon a whole band all at one time. If there is any seat vacant at Wolfenstein's tonight, it is for US.

Our High Schools.

During the last few months we have heard many persons objecting to high schools under public patronage. They say the public school system never was designed to confer anything more than a common education, such as reading, writing, arithmetic, geography and grammar. And strange to say these complaints against the high schools have nearly all come from poor men. We should not be surprised to hear the wealthy men objecting to being taxed to support high schools, for it has always been the object of wealthy people in every country to establish classes, or grades in society, and there are no means that will so effectually do this as the establishment of grades in education. And as the poor man is not able to pay the way of his children through college his children must stop where the public school instruction ends; while the rich are able to send their children until they graduate in schools of the highest grade. "Knowledge is power," and it is knowledge that makes the poor man equal and often superior to the rich. Under this view of the subject it is the interest of the poor men to contend for, and sustain public schools of the highest grade. If either one, the high schools or the common schools, had to be abandoned, it would be better for the poor to have the common schools abandoned. For if necessity compelled it, there is hardly any family that could not teach their children to read, write or cipher at home, while the higher branches of education can only be obtained at a high school, and it is these higher branches of education that makes the poor man's son equal to the rich man's son. The rich do not care a snap about your public high schools, and if they can induce the poor men to cry them down and out of existence, then the rich man's children will be the only highly educated children in all the land. I am pleading for the poor boys and girls. Give them a chance. Some of the brightest talents that ever adorned the world arose from poverty. There are many things in our public school system which we object to, and which we think time and experience will correct. These institutions are only in their infancy now and we cannot expect perfection at once, hence we have avoided saying anything calculated to create discussion. But now when we see the most important and useful branch of the public schools being quietly undermined we are constrained to speak out and warn the people to hold on to all you have, and get more if you can. If these designing persons who have undertaken to cry down our high schools can accomplish their object, sectarian institutions will rise up immediately to supply our wants. But the expense will be so great that the poor will be cut off.

Bring out the sprinkling cart. The streets are getting dusty.

Our Grapes.

Mr. G. B. Davis received from San Francisco by this morning's mail a package of raisins which were cured by himself in 1874 on the Aiden factory in this city. The raisins astonished Mr. Davis, and made our mouth water to look at them. A more beautiful specimen of raisins I never beheld. They were round, plump, dark and smooth, having retained their size and freshness perfectly. But in addition to all this they contained a number of crystallized lumps of sugar, something we never saw before. Mr. Deitzler, a large dealer in San Francisco, sent these raisins to Mr. Davis and makes the following remarks:

Our office-boy, in overhauling our fruit packages several days ago, found about half a pound of dried raisins of 1874, which he had never seen anything like it in the raisin line, and the discovery is a most encouraging circumstance, particularly in regard to the curing of the Aiden process. It would pay $100 for 10 pounds of such raisins to be used as samples this coming season.

And we find in the Alta the following upon the same subject:

Our attention has been called to the peculiar beauty of some white Muscat raisins affected by the Aiden process of San Angeles in 1874. The grapes were picked in large bunches. We have never observed any similar crystallization in other raisins, and whether this is owing to some exceptional feature in the growing or the curing of sugar in the Los Angeles grapes is not ascertained. These raisins are beautiful in their appearance, and their flavor is not equal to the Aiden process.

The Mikado brought 180 packages of the Centennial.

A number of citizens started a subscription to purchase a lot on Telegraph Hill to be set aside for a public park.

The Associated Press of California, composed of members of the interior press of the State, met at the Occidental Hotel at 1 P. M., to-day to secure a permanent organization.

Complaint for slander was filed in the Fourth District Court to-day by John H. Randolph, against Nathaniel Curry to recover $20,000. Complaint avers that he was acting Treasurer of the American Protestant Association of this State, and that he sustained the good character for integrity, which the defendant appeared before the Police Commissioners and charged him with appropriating monies belonging to the Society of which he was Treasurer and threatened that he would be dismissed from the Police force, by reason of which he has suffered in character to the amount sued for yesterday afternoon.

Anthony McCleary attempted to commit suicide on Ellis street by cutting his throat with a razor. He was found by an officer and conveyed to the city prison hospital for treatment. Upon examination by the physician it was found that he had only made a slight incision across the trachea, which had not reached the jugular vein. Morning.—The man is quiet and comfortable and says that he has had reverses in stocks of late and did not desire to live.

The trial of Wm. J. Taylor for the murder of David Terry O'Neill has been set for the Fourth District Court on Monday the 21st inst., and the trial of Edward Bittinger for the murder of his brother, the following Wednesday.

GOLD REPORT.

SAN FRANCISCO Feb. 10

Gold, 133 Greenbacks—Buying, 87½; selling, 88.

LOCAL BREVIETIES.

"A valentine?" said Mr. Miller.

The Grand Central Hotel has gas, water and a fire-place in every room.

We are indebted to "Clips," Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger, for late files of papers from the North.

Mr. Moody has arrived from the East and located at Pasadena with the intention of making it his permanent home.

Mr. J. J. Warner informs us that Don Andreas Pico was born on the 30th of November, and not on the 3d as erroneously stated in the Express.

There is a sink hole filled with stagnant water on Aliso street in front of Dr. Simms' place. The nuisance should be abated.

We regret to learn that Mr. George Pridham, agent for the Coast Line of Stages, is again quite ill. This time the physician says with bilious intermitting fever.

The Telegraph Stage Line Coach arrived last evening about half past six with a tremendous load of mail and express matter, bringing dates to February 12th from San Francisco.

Prof. Dorlan says he will engage as copyist in the evenings or on Saturdays during the day. Call at the school-room, or at J. H. Bland's Law office in the evening.

On account of the storm last week the Baptist Social was postponed until this evening. It will be held at the house of Mrs. E. H. Workman, on Main street.

A lot of peach trees brought from Ohio last fall by Mr. D. H. Pike have blossomed. They evidently thought by the weather that it was the month of May.

The party who took a new waterproof cloak from the Masquerade ball and left an old one in exchange, is requested to return the property to the Oriental Restaurant.

C. Brode, Spring street, near Turn Verein Hall, has, in addition to his fine stock of groceries and provisions, a nice assortment of crockery and hardware, which he is selling cheap.

Passengers by the Mohongo report having experienced rough weather on their down trip from San Francisco. The passengers reached this city Sunday evening about 6:20 by special train from Wilmington.

Ned Marshall, formerly a member of Congress for California, fell a few days ago and broke his hip and will be a cripple for life, as we are informed by his uncle. He resides at Versailles, Ky.

W. M. Williams is receiving every day all kinds of fruit and ornamental trees at his tree depot on Spring street, near Court, which he will sell at greatly reduced prices. Call and look at them.

August Melchert & Co. are about to establish a fishery at Santa Monica. They will arrive in a few days on the steamer Gipsey with all the appliances for the capture of the various kinds of fish that abound in that locality. Camerons will sell them at his fish market.

Mr. Calvin Fletcher lectured in the school house at Pasadena to a delighted audience, on what he has seen in his travels in Europe, Asia and Africa. The lecture is said to have been exceedingly interesting. We hope to have an opportunity of hearing him before long.

We saw on the premises of Mr. Kimball the other day, a curiosity in vegetable growth. It was no less than a sprig of geranium grafted upon a two-year-old tomato vine. The grafting was done by Mr. Kimball about two months ago, and the geranium is now in bloom and growing finely.

There is a dead pup in the zanja between 7th and 8th streets nearly opposite Mr. Bradley's. The said gentleman notified officer Turner of this dead dog, at one o'clock P. M. yesterday, and late last night it was not removed. It is certainly somebody's business to remove dead pups.

A man, whose name we did not learn, after filling himself with whisky last night, proceeded to smash the windows of a saloon on the corner of Commercial and Alameda streets. Officer Charles took him to the city prison after a hard tussle, and he will probably regret his spree to-day when he has an interview with the Mayor.

There was a very good attendance at Agricultural Park yesterday to witness the jumping match between Wesley and Lucas. Lucas won the toss for choice of jumps, and Wesley led off, jumping 19 feet 9 inches. Lucas' first jump was foul; second, 17 feet 11 inches; third foul; fourth, 17 feet 11 inches. Considerable money changed hands.

Business with Arizona has increased remarkably since the establishing of the Arizona and New Mexico Express Company. That Company connects with Wells, Fargo & Co. at Whitewater, and the merchants of San Francisco and Los Angeles are taking advantage of this means of speedy and reasonable transportation of goods into that territory.

The San Diego mail that was lost in the San Onofre river the other day, has been recovered and is now at the post office in this city. Mr. Bent informs us that he is drying it and it will all be saved except the paper sack. Everything that was in leather sacks is safe. The mail was not as large as usual. The loss of this mail and its recovery shows a persistent determination on the part of the contractors that speaks volumes for that company. The manner in which it was lost showed a resolution on the part of the driver to put the mail through on time, it required pluck to bolt into a mountain torrent under the circumstances. And its recovery manifests a persistent energy to do all that was possible. They deserve credit.

Another Growler.

A correspondent in Lawrburg, N. C., sends us the following letter clipped from the West and furnished to that paper by one of the few hundred chronic growers of the Pacific coast. The published letter is as follows:

EMIGRATIN WEST.—A CAUTION.—Mr. Editor: There has been a systematic and continued advertising in the East of wonderful and grand opportunities in California, usually by railroads and companies and other parties interested in lands. Then to confirm the truth of their representations they tell us of large and intelligent emigration from the New England States. They spise these advertisements with gold and silver mines, fertility of soil unequalled, tropical climate where tropic fruits and plants and flowers grow out of doors all the year round. They tell of health and wealth so charmingly and easily gained that it would seem that any man was a fool, or a brute to his sickly family to stay at home when California would cure our loves ones and at once. There is no dirt cheap and so produced. No more hills or oras when once in the land of gold and eternal spring, where roses bloom all the year; etc., just like Heaven.

It has been my fortune or misfortune—I can't tell which—to have seen much of this emigration, both on the railroad and after they have reached California. Not only have I talked with the emigrant but with numbers of the trust and best men in the Sacramento valley. It is no place for a poor man. It is the biggest imposition on humanity to induce the emigration now pouring into this country.

It is a fact that in the city of Sacramento hundreds are living too destitute to describe. Many are living off the slop-barrels of the hotels, and far better than many others who appear more respectable, for the reason that you cannot see how they live. Scores are driven to steal to keep body and soul together. Begging in California is met with very little sympathy.

The fruit stand at the corner of Temple and Spring streets, was robbed on Saturday night. Officers Cruz and Turner arrested the thief and he received twenty days yesterday morning.

Mr. Dillon, of the well known dry goods house of Dillon & Kenealy, left Sunday for San Francisco. He expects to return in ten days with a fine addition to his dry goods palace.

Mr. Charles Black, of the Nick Biddle, met with his first misfortune in the wreck of his vessel. He has always been considered a safe officer, and he has the sympathy of all.
